at 0400 on Saturday 23 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry on Saturday but some rain on Sunday.

Today:
Largely dry for most of today but isolated showers or occasional drizzle is possible, mostly across Cumbria. Rather cloudy but a few bright or sunny spells are likely as the southerly breeze freshens. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
It will stay largely dry at first, however there is an increasing chance of occasional showery rain later in the night, especially in the west. Much milder than last night. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Sunday:
Rain during the morning with the odd heavier burst possible. Becoming drier during the afternoon with an increasing chance of sunny spells. Strong southerly winds at first, these easing later. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunshine and showers on Monday. Largely dry and bright on Tuesday, but cloudier with occasional rain or drizzle on Wednesday. Breezy at times and becoming very mild by midweek.
